The American Board of Neurological Surgery 2020 RFP Examinations will be offered on June 12, 2020.

Two areas of focused practice approved by the ABMS and managed/awarded by the ABNS are Neurocritical Care and CNS Endovascular Neurological Surgery.

The CNS Endovascular and the Neurocritical Care RFP examinations are an important step in the process of obtaining a recognition of focused practice.

The examinations will be offered and delivered online. The exams will consist of 100 multiple choice questions, timed (maximum of 2 hours) and proctored (virtual). The cost per exam is $2,000.00.

The exam is available to:
- Individuals who have successfully completed or will be completing a CAST approved fellowship
- Individuals who have completed or will be completing an ACGME approved fellowship
- Individuals who have completed or will complete an approved fellowship through ACNS (American Clinical Neurophysiology Society)
- Individuals who plan to pursue an RFP via the practice pathway

The test is designed to evaluate candidates’ knowledge and provide direction for continued learning in the focused areas of practice including indications for treatment and current standards. The ABNS plans to review and revise the 100-question examinations when and where appropriate.

Click here for more information on RFPs available through ABNS

For those interested in taking the online RFP examination on June 12, 2020 please contact Carole Pinto via e-mail at cpinto@abns.org